

SECOND CALL

Called the Miners Out of Bed Early Monday Morning

AND THEY STRUCK

THE COAL HARD.

Repeating the Same Story Every Day and Have Announced

WILL TOLERATE NO INTERFERENCE

Total Output of County Even Greater Than the Record Breaking Day of the "First Call."

In answer to the second strike order, issued by District President J. D. Wood, of the Union Mine Workers, and addressed to the miners of Hopkins county, which took effect Monday, not more than 50 men quit, out of the 2,000 employed in the county. Committees of union miners visited the mines Monday morning, and formally invited the men to quit work. The operators were prepared and did not permit union representatives to trespass on their property.

More men worked in the mines of the county Monday than any day for weeks. They went to work here and elsewhere in a gay humor and gave committees the horse laugh. Some, however, have tired of agitation and fortified union men they will not tolerate any interference.

A shooting scrape occurred at the Monarch mine Sunday, between union and non-union colored miners, in which about a hundred shots were exchanged, and two men wounded. Twenty or twenty-five, employed at that mine, stayed out. At Oak Hill mine, where the powerhouse was burned Saturday night, every man went to work. Rumor said there would be women on the committee at St. Charles, and several wives of miners turned out to meet the female part of the committee at St. Charles, which did not appear.

In issuing this call, President Wood apologizes for issuing a second strike order, which he says "is not in keeping with the rules of the organization. But it appears the coal companies, or parties not known to us, have the miners under a wrong impression consequently we issue this appeal to all miners to quit work, in compliance with the strike order of the above named date."

The quoted words are from the text of his published call which was given out several days ago and published in the Madisonville Hustler of last week.

The first order referred to was issued November 26. On that day the call was ignored by the miners of the county, who celebrated the occasion by going in full force to the mines and producing a quantity of coal exceeding any former day's output.

Notwithstanding the shortage of cars at two mines the total output of Hopkins county mines Monday was another record breaker. The output of Monday was over 8,000 tons of coal from the mines in this county, the losses at certain mines being more than overbalanced by the gains made by the St. Bernard group of mines.

The non-union mines outside of Hopkins County, at Sebree,

Providence and Empire, had full forces at work Monday. Providence was short of cars and did not run a full day.

On Tuesday morning committees were again out at some of the mines—once here and there—but with the remembrance of Monday's failure and in their attempt to call out the men and at the same time to keep themselves off the property of the coal companies, they acted without hope or effect. The mines of the county all ran as usual Tuesday and put out a full day's work except where railroad cars were scarce in some instances. Monarch mine had more men in than on Monday.

Wednesday morning the same story was repeated. No committee men made their appearance about Earlinton mines, however, having concluded their efforts were entirely fruitless. At Barsley some fifteen union men gathered on the railroad to challenge men who should come from Mortons Gap to the Barsley mine. They accosted two men only and after that dispersed upon the arrival of officers, fearing charges of intimidation in the courts.

The two thousand employed miners of Hopkins county seem to have made up their minds to pursue the even tenor of their way and defend their right to peaceful employment and the pursuit of happiness without the consent of Jim Wood or any of his associates in idleness.

There is indication of a tense feeling of resentment against interference by union representatives. Two colored agitators from Indiana were in Earlinton Monday night for the purpose of holding a meeting. They were disturbed, however, by signs of a demonstration by the colored miners and stayed in the house of a friend all night, leaving town the next morning. Several farmers have been in Earlinton this week and offered their services to protect life and property, having heard that threats were being made by union leaders who were disappointed that the strike order was ignored.

Everything is moving quietly and smoothly about the mines and the work goes on as usual.

Gentry's Animal Actors.

The coming of the Professor's dog and pony show may be looked forward to this year with greater pleasure than ever before, for it is stated by good authority that the performance is all new and strictly up-to-date. This attraction has always been a great favorite and the engagement should, and doubtless will be a profitable one.

Professor Gentry has always provided good entertainments for his patrons, and this season he has eclipsed all of his former efforts in a most marvelous bit of training that closes the entertainment in place of the old pyramid of dogs and ponies. It is a highly exciting fire scene, liberally set off by the comical efforts of the dog and monkey firemen while saving the life and property of the inmates of the burning mansion.

The Professor is booked to appear under a large waterproof tent at Madisonville, April 26. Admission, children 25 cents, adults 35 cents.

Unions Locked Out. Newport, Ky., April 16.—Today notice was posted on the doors of the huge factory of the Walsworth Watch Case Company in Newport, where a strike has been in progress, that hereafter no union labor would be employed. Other watch case manufacturers have taken the same action.

"Romoke," a story of Old Virginia, will be at the Earlinton Opera House the latter part of the month.

TOO CHILLY FOR THE CROPS.

Outlook for Fruit Encouraging, but Farm Work Progressing Slowly.

The United States Weather Bureau's crop report for the week says:

"The past week has been too cool for crops of all kinds. Nothing was injured by the cool weather, but the growth of all vegetation was checked. Wheat continues to improve and the outlook is much more satisfactory; in some localities it is reported to be fully up to the average for the time of the year.

"Tobacco plants are in good condition but growing very slowly, on account of the cool weather. "Corn land has generally been broken and considerable planted in southern and western portions of the State, but the cool weather and rains have delayed the work. "A large acreage of potatoes is being planted and some garden truck is being planted.

"The outlook for fruit is very encouraging. Peaches are in bloom in nearly all sections, and plums, cherries and apples are beginning to bloom in the southern and western portions of the State.

"Grass in meadows and pastures and oats and rye are looking healthy, but advancing slowly. Old clover was badly winter killed, but new clover is doing well.

"Farm work is progressing fairly well. Light frosts were reported in some localities, but no damage resulted. Warm weather is needed."

Diamond Ring Found in a Turkey's Crop.

A few months ago a woman visitor at the farm of a citizen up Ashford way, while scattering corn for the chickens and young turkeys, lost from her finger a valuable diamond ring. A faithful search of the hen proved without avail, and it was naturally concluded that the ring had been swallowed by some one of the fowls in its eagerness to partake of the corn.

A day or so before Thanksgiving one of the turkeys of the flock fed by the woman when the gown was lost was killed, that it might adorn the festive Thanksgiving board. By a peculiar coincidence, the same woman was again visiting the house. The crop of the turkey was unusually large and distended, and when opened, was found to contain a handful of corn, two suspender buttons, somewhat the worse for wear; half a dozen shingle nails, two poker chips, a piece of second-hand corn plaster, two canceled postage stamps, seven toothpicks, a partly digested spool of thread and the ring.

For Earlingtonians.

Those who wish to see Mr. Walker Whitesides and company, in "Heart and Sword," at Mortons Theater, Wednesday, May 1st, can secure seats at this place from W. S. McGary. This is a strong attraction, and as the season is drawing to a close, the management expect a rush for seats when they are put on sale.

Unions Locked Out.

Newport, Ky., April 16.—Today notice was posted on the doors of the huge factory of the Walsworth Watch Case Company in Newport, where a strike has been in progress, that hereafter no union labor would be employed. Other watch case manufacturers have taken the same action.

"Romoke," a story of Old Virginia, will be at the Earlinton Opera House the latter part of the month.

COAL OPERATORS

WILL BE SUED.

Action Against Indiana Operators to Prevent Collection of Strike Fund.

CONSPIRACY AGAINST

KENTUCKY OPERATORS.

For Purpose of Coercing Them to Unionize Their Mines.

Evansville, Ind., April 15.—Operators in Evansville have received notice that they will be made defendants in a damage suit brought by the St. Bernard Coal Company to prevent the collection of dues of miners in the United Mine Workers' Union. It is a law of the union that companies must withhold a certain sum of miners' wages to be paid over to union officials as dues to the union. This the St. Bernard Company charges is a conspiracy against their business since it is said these dues are being sent to Kentucky to be used as a strike fund to coerce the said St. Bernard Company to unionize its mine. There is an intimidation law in Kentucky, and it is under this law that the suit is brought. The question of how such a law will affect Indiana operators will be brought out in the United States Court if any such suits are brought to trial.

ISAAC TODD KILLED.

Shot by Roscoe Garrett at Nortonville—Garrett Has Fled.

A tragedy was enacted at Nortonville Tuesday evening about 6:30 o'clock which threatened to lead to further trouble before the night was over, but which ended with the death of one man and the escape of his slayer.

Isaac Todd, a young man employed at the Oak Hill mines, was shot and killed by Roscoe Garrett a short distance east of the railroad depot near where the highway crosses the railroad. Todd was a non-union miner and Garrett was a union miner and an ex-employee of the Oak Hill company and this fact, added to the feeling of the two men's friends, came near producing further trouble. A good many men were in Nortonville Monday and Tuesday. The union men were disappointed at the failure of the second strike order and there had been much drunkenness. Garrett fled after the shooting. Both men were young. Todd was a son of Esquire Josh Todd formerly a magistrate in this county.

It is reported there is no little feeling over the affair at Oak Hill and Nortonville.

At the Earlington Opera House.

Manager McGary has booked Hal Reid's greatest play, "Romoke," a story of old Virginia, to appear at the Opera House the latter part of the month. The date will be announced later.

Democratic Primary.

Returns of the Democratic primary held Saturday give the nominations to the following: For County Judge—C. C. Gliven, For County Clerk—J. B. Brasler, For Representative—R. B. Bradley, For Sheriff—W. E. Ashby, For Superintendent of Schools—Miss Sallie B. Brown, For Jailor—S. W. Offutt, For Assessor—Weldon Jenkins, In the Earlington district F. B. Sisk was nominated for Magistrate; J. L. Blue, Hanson and Oakwell; W. E. Jago, Klehon; W. D. Stedwell, Court House; Walter Davis, Cartell; J. R. Franklin, Charleston.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

The "final" call has been issued so Jim Wood says, and the miners have done the rest. The miners in this county have become acquainted with these calls which have been made so often recently. It has been a common thing to see the home-loving miner, en route to the mines to work, to meet one or more of these agitators who by threats and lies ask them to come out or suffer the consequences. So far a deaf ear has been turned to these appeals and we believe in the honesty and good judgment of our miners in general and that they will never suffer themselves to be led astray by those who have nothing to give in return, and will work with the same vim and determination to resist all attempts to interfere with their duty and right to earn a living for themselves and families.

The burning of the engine house at Oak Hill last Saturday night was a hard stroke upon the miners and operators there. They have lately entered upon a new era of prosperity. The machinery was bought and paid for and the managers were proud of being out of debt. The miners who had declared themselves free and independent and were working along well pleased with their condition are also heavy losers. But with the good feeling that prevails between the managers and workmen they will soon find a way to rebuild and occupy the engine house. It is rumored that it was the work of an incendiary, but there is no proof as to the truth of the rumor. As miners love company the members of the poverty stricken will feel proud to hear of the misfortune that has befallen the Oak Hill miners. If they can't work themselves they want others who won't sacrifice their manhood by joining their order to remain idle.

Said a keen observer a few days ago: "The presence of members of the U. M. W. here and their efforts to organize this place has already proved disastrous to our town. Thousands of dollars would have been spent here this year on improvements and the shape of new buildings if the trouble-makers were not here. As it is the money and mechanics will lay idle to a great extent." This is a serious question to consider. If even their presence without power causes such a depression in business what would their control of this place do? Property now worth thousands of dollars would so decrease in value that it would have to be sold at half its value. The car shops at this place would in a short time practically shut down, thus throwing a small army of men out of employment. And where coal mines are concerned business would be almost entirely killed. Experience has shown that great coal consumers cannot rely on union mines to fill a contract, as the most trivial thing sometimes causes a cessation of business and the mines are shut down.

Barton Crutcherfield, of St. Charles, who was formerly at Madisonville last Sunday and stopped here on his return. He reports business good at St. Charles although there are quite a number of union men in that region, yet they have not used force to stop the miners. What causes Barton to approach profanely is the fact that some scheming politicians are enlisting around and attempting to use the union as a political move in the interest of the Democratic party.

There are 900 plants in operation in the bituminous mining districts of Pennsylvania, requiring twelve mine inspectors. Under the provisions of the present law an inspector is allowed, at a salary of $3,000 a year, for not less than 90 nor more than 90 mines.

The labor agitators seem to have given up the struggle in Colorado, and all of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company's mines are now reported to be in active operation.

The Canon City miners returned to work on March 27. The agitators failed to organize the company's miners for a general strike.

It should be remembered that men employed as sworn officers for our coal companies have rights that even U. M. W. although claiming to be a privileged class, must respect. These guards treat all with proper respect and expect the same in return.

Among our people can not be found a worse citizen than the one who becomes an agitator. For many years he has prospered under the leadership and kind treatment of his employer, has lacked neither for work or means; if a day of sickness overtook him and his money ran short, care, both moral and financial was given him; if he wanted a few dollars for a pleasure trip, the money was advanced. Such has been the condition of the employees of the St. Bernard Coal Company, and yet we are sorry to state, that he occasionally found wanting in that gratitude which goes to make a man truly good. But it must be said, to the credit of the St. Bernard miners, that but few of them can be found in that class and that fact was plainly shown this week as it has been for months past. They justly regard the man who will turn his back on a company that has befriended both himself and family as a traitor.

Chas. Iglehart is one of the last of indicted union agitators to be arrested on bench warrant under indictment of the last grand jury. He was placed under $200 bond. The indictment is for Intimidation.

One C. H. Plackman, is a new scab from Madisonville to the U. M. W. Journal. "How is this for provocation?" He signs it —

"The operators are telling the colored miners that the union is a white man's trick and it is all that we can do to say make them believe that we come here to better the condition of the miners of Hopkins and adjoining counties around. We have now about 90 per cent of the old miners in the union, though they have made about 20 or 30 in their hands. We are sorry to say that the colored men stand in the way of thoroughly organizing this district."

REWARD OFFERED.

Two Hundred Dollars for Arrest and Conviction of Barney Powder Blowers.

The St. Bernard Coal Company has issued a reward offer of $200 for the arrest and conviction of the party or parties who produced the powder explosion last week at Barsley, which was fully reported in last week's REC.

REWARD.

Two Hundred Dollars reward will be paid for the arrest and conviction of the party or parties who exploded a keg of powder on the porch of the house at Barsley, Ky., occupied by John Duncan, on the night of Tuesday, April 9, 1901.

"ST. BERNARD COAL CO."

Duncan is a colored miner employed by the St. Bernard Coal Co., at its Barsley mine. The house, which was set on fire by the explosion, is owned by John Sharp, an engineer for the same company.

A Genuine Treat.

It would seem from the report that a genuine treat was in store for the theatre-goers on the night of May 1st, when Mr. Walker Whitesides and his company will present his new romantic comedy, "Heart and Sword," at Mortons Theater, Madisonville. Shipman Brothers have furnished Mr. Whiteside with an entirely new production of this play, the original having been destroyed in the burning of the Coates Opera House, Kansas City. By a special offer, Messrs. Mortons have invited about 20 or 30 in their hands. We are sorry to say that the colored men stand in the way of thoroughly organizing this district."

For Sale.

Household and kitchen furniture, a set of school furniture, capacity seat 25 to 30 pupils, with blackboard of over 100 square feet; one Eddy organ; one Warren upright piano; a Classical and Scientific Library of choice book case. Persons desiring to purchase will please call on the undersigned or his wife.

INVASION THREATENED.

Southern Indiana Miners Knock off Work For Three Days.

PROPOSE TO COME

TO HOPKINS COUNTY.

Preparations Fully Made to Give Invading Army a Warm Reception.

REPETITION OF THREATS OF FORCE.

Disappointed at the Failure of the Second Strike Order.

Direct private information received here last night from two independent sources in Southern Indiana says the union miners of that coal field are preparing for an armed invasion of Hopkins County this week.

This information is from wholly reliable sources and was transmitted by telephone from Evansville and Boonville, Indiana, to Earlington.

The message from Evansville stated that the miners of Southern Indiana had notified the operators that after Thursday afternoon they would not work any more for three days, and that the mines would lay idle for that length of time. They did not say for what purpose, but from the information picked up and every indication the Evansville operators believe the shut down was for the purpose of making an invasion into Kentucky and Hopkins County to terrify and coerce the non-union miners of this county to cease work. The Indiana operators have some contracts that need daily attention and they demanded that the miners should not sacrifice these. The miners then agreed to leave enough men at work to fill these contracts and lay the rest off.

The Boonville message came later. The gentleman who telephoned from that place was excited. He said that sixty of the worst men there had been buying guns and pistols with the avowed purpose of going to Hopkins county. He said he had only had the information about five minutes and gave it at once.

In 1897 similar threats were made of an invasion from Indiana and a lot of union miners marched through that section as far as Evansville, where they camped and threatened to capture a train and come to Earlington. They got no further than Evansville at that time. Now there has been another sustained effort to unionize the Hopkins county mines and on Monday the second strike order was ignored and the daily tonnage is not diminished. The organizers have said time and again that they would tie up Hopkins county mines by some means if the men refused to come out, and it would seem that their only hope is to come and take the men out who have threatened. These threats are already a matter of sworn testimony and court record.

In 1897 the officers, operators and people of the county were prepared to resist the invasion and warrants were issued against any parties who should come. The preparations to receive an invading army, if they should come, are being made even more complete now and the authorities, the operators and the miners themselves say it will be a warm time for men who come from over the river to force Hopkins county miners out.

WASHED HIS NOSE.

Jim Woods Invents Roy Blanks In a Saloon and Gets Hurt.

IS CONFINED TO HIS ROOM.

President of United Mine Workers Maintaining His Dignity Under Adverse Circumstances.

J. D. Wood, district president of the United Mine Workers, in Driver's saloon at Madisonville, Tuesday night, used insulting language toward men who had done general duty at Hopkins county mines and in return received a mashed nose and a black eye. Roy Blanks, with two or three friends, all of Morton Gap, young miners, some of whom have done guard duty at other mines, were in the saloon when Wood and three companions came in. The two parties joined in drinks and cigars and discussed the union movement.

Wood offered to give Blanks $500 if he would stop the Morton Gap mines, and a fabulous sum if he would stop the St. Bernard company's operations in the county. Blanks and his friends laughingly agreed to earn the big money.

Blanks is an ex-union man, who renounced the union some time ago. Wood chided him for this, intimating roughly that Blanks had no principle. This Blanks resented and Wood followed with a denunciation of men who had guarded mining properties in the county, when Blanks hit Wood in the face, mashing his nose and backing one or both eyes. Wood sank backwards and Blanks took hold of him and lifted him up. One of Wood's companions ran in but was caught by a cool-headed witness who prevented further trouble.

This story is told by an eye witness and corroborated by others.

Blanks, when seen, said he was ready to submit his case to the authorities and pay his fine. He said he could not take the insult offered by Wood and had resented it.

Wood was not to be seen yesterday and kept his room all day, transacting his affairs through an intermediary.

Saturday morning Sisson had applied some rough epithets to Barnett, which were overheard by the latter's young son. Sisson went to Madisonville and is said to have been drinking when he came back in the afternoon. When he got off the train Mr. Barnett took him aside and asked an explanation of what he had said that morning. Sisson denied having said the things reported and immediately struck at Barnett saying he could furnish a "scrap" if it was wanted. No weapons were drawn. Mr. Barnett submitted his case at once and paid a fine of $20 for breach of the peace.

Sisson had a revolver and a bottle of whisky in his pockets when arrested. When arraigned in court Wednesday on charge of carrying concealed a deadly weapon no defense was offered and he was fined $25 and cost and sentenced to ten days in jail which was a minimum sentence under the law.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS.

The railroad boys displayed considerable interest in the Democratic primary last Saturday and the candidates favored by them generally pulled through.

The last few days have been beautiful and the boys, when business will permit, now seek recreation at the fish pond. Who will tell the first fish story?

Operator Bradner has been promoted to day man at the Henderson office. He says there, we understand, to relieve Charles Orr, who has come to Earlington.

Work on the new bridge approach has been commenced at Henderson and will be rushed to completion. Five sets of derricks and rock masons will be put to work there at the same time. Already the machinery is being put up.

Brakeman Belt last Tuesday fell from a running train between Sebree and Henderson, and while it is thought he is not seriously injured, he received some severe bruises from the fall.

Operator Craven is now holding the car as night man at Kelleys. Conductor Ingram is now regular man on the middle local and feels proud of the change, as it now throws him at home every night.

The dispatchers have changed back to the old hour of going to work but they still favor the eight hour law.

The new time card which went into effect last Sunday seems to please the boys, as we have thus far heard no complaints. The operators of the work well when they can please all.

The L. & N. stock seems to still elude a notch or two higher and soon it will appear among the leaders, good business and management tell even on the stock market. The road can't stand the investors' agouti becomes popular.

Frankfort, Ind., April 13.—Milo Hughes, the eight-year-old hero who saved a Monon train from plunging through a burning bridge over Killmore Creek, four miles north of this city, is a son of William Hughes, a modest farmer. The little lad really risked his life to save the train and crew, for when the engineer first saw him on the track waving his arms he thought nothing special of it, and would not believe it was him, but Milo refused to step aside, and stood between the rails frantically waving his hat and screaming, while the heavy train drew down upon him at high speed.

Seeing that the boy continued to remain in his dangerous position, the engineer reversed his engine and then, reaching for the whistle cord, he sent out a wild call for brakes.

The train came to a stop, was almost on the edge of the chasm spanned by the burning bridge.

The boy was exhausted by his work with death, as it had been necessary to reach a curve ahead of the train, else it would have been too late.

Assistant Sept. Dunn, who is ever watchful after the company's interest, spent a day or two here this week.

It is indeed queer that so many men in the employ of the railroad company can be found who at heart sympathize with the strikers' position when it is a settled fact that they would be losers in the event the agitators won. Closing down the mines here would at once cut down the freight one half or more; therefore half the force now employed by the railroad company would be compelled to look elsewhere for work. The shop men, among whom can be found friends of the agitators, would soon see their lives largely cut down, and in fact the ultimate result would be the closing down of the shops here entirely. The men are called upon to take a stand for home rule.

New England Women

Have an Abiding Faith in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

After years of struggle to attain and merit public confidence, with a firm and steadfast belief that some day others would recognize in us the truth, good faith, and honesty of purpose which we know we possess, with a genuine satisfaction it is to succeed, and to realize the uplifting influence of the certified confidence of a vast army of our fellow beings.

Thus stands the Pinkham name in New England, and all over America, and nowhere is the faith in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound greater than in New England, its home. Merit, and merit alone, can gain this.

ORGANIC INFLAMMATION.
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM.—I was nervous, prostrated, the result of inflammation of the bladder, was sick in bed with it. I had two doctors, but they did me no good. A friend gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it helped me. I have now taken three bottles of it, and I am entirely cured. It is a God-send to any woman, and I would recommend it to any one suffering as I was. I think, if most of the women would take more of your medicine instead of going to the doctors, they would be better off. The compound has also cured my husband of kidney trouble."
Mrs. Mabel Gookin,
Box 160,
Mechanic Falls, Maine.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.
"For two years I suffered from nervous prostration, the result of female weakness. I had leucorrhoea, very badly, and at the same time of menstruation would be obliged to go to bed. Also suffered with headaches, pain across the back, and in lower part of abdomen. I was so discouraged, I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound, and decided to give it a trial. I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham, and received a very nice letter in return. I began at once the use of her Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and am now feeling splendid. I have no more pain at monthly periods, can do my own work, and have gained ten pounds. I would not be without your Vegetable Compound. It is a splendid medicine. I am very thankful for what has done for me."
Mrs. W. J. 55 Carolina Ave., Jamaica Plain, Mass.

● If Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure these women—why not you—you cannot tell until you try it. If you are ill, and really want to get well, commence its use at once, and do not let any drug dealer persuade you that he has something of his own which is better, for that is absurd. Ask him to produce the evidence we do.

"I cannot help but feel that it is my duty to do something in regard to recommending your wonderful medicine. I must say it is the greatest medicine on earth, and have advised my great many suffering with female troubles to take it. I tell people I wish I could go on the platform and lecture on it."

"My trouble was a painful menstruation. The suffering I endured cannot describe. I was treated by one of the most prominent physicians here for five months, and found myself getting worse instead of better. At the end of the fifth month I tried your 'Vegetable Compound,' and it cured me of headache. I did so, and took it faithfully, and am now cured of my trouble, and in perfect health, many thanks to your medicine. I cannot praise it enough, and would recommend it to all who suffer from any female weakness."
461 Orchard St., New Haven, Conn.

"$5000 REWARD.—We have decided to pay to any person who can show that the above testimonials are not genuine, or who can produce better evidence of the truth of the same, the sum of $5000. ANNOUNCEMENTS.

COUNTY CLERK

GILLILAND. We are authorized to announce John R. Gilliland of Wiley Precinct, Post office address St. Charles, a candidate for County Clerk, subject to the action of the Republican party.

MURPHY. We are authorized to announce C. M. Murphy, of Madisonville, a candidate for County Clerk, subject to the action of the Republican party.

COUNTY JUDGE

ZIMMER. We are authorized to announce F. L. Zimmer, of Madisonville, a candidate for County Judge, subject to the action of the Republican party.

An out-of-worker at Baraskey has sought to pawn his revolver for fifty cents to swell his fund to marry on. This sounds like a turning to peaceful pursuits and a beating of the sword into the pruning hook.

It is now in order for defeated candidates, from jailer up, to announce in the local press, at so much per announce, that they are glad they got licked and will fight for the party till the last day in the morning.

The Lesson of the Cloverport Disaster. From the Louisville Post, March 19.

The prompt action of the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis Railway in throwing open its property in the vicinity of Cloverport for the accommodation of the sufferers of the recent disastrous fire in that city and no less generous action of the same road in chartering a relief train at its own expense and forwarding supplies on the same day should serve as an object lesson to the entire State and as a crushing rebuke to those grasping politicians who, for several years, have made hostility to railroads their sole battery.

It was, of course, to be expected that the people of Breckinridge county, the citizens of Louisville, Henderson and Owensboro would hasten to the assistance of the inhabitants of the stricken city. The destruction of Cloverport was a disaster that affected the entire State of Kentucky. It would be impossible for even the coldest hearted to withhold sympathy to the people of the historic town on the Ohio, who, almost in the twinkling of an eye, saw their entire business portion and many of their residences swept out of existence. The aid so promptly proffered was, therefore, more in the nature of the payment of an insurance policy than of a gift. Any other city in the State would have expected and received the same assistance under similar conditions, and if it had been Cloverport that had been saved and some other city that had suffered the people of Breckinridge county would not have been behind in their contributions. The only possible consolation for the disaster is that it has perhaps served to draw the people of the country and the people of the city closer together and to show them in times of trouble they can depend on each other.

The action of the railroad was different in many ways from that of the State. It has been so often the custom in the past few years in this State for orators to describe railroads as sinister corporations, entirely devoid of any feeling for the people and rather preferring to crush and enslave than to be of any real benefit, that some worthy people have been taught to believe that only harm can come from a railroad. It is terrible to consider what might have been the fate of Cloverport or what might have been the fate of any similarly stricken community if it were not for the railroad. Outside of the aid which the road itself offered it would have been extremely difficult and tedious to bring supplies to the scene in any other way. If the railroad had not been in operation it would have been days before any assistance could have arrived. The fire engine could not have been brought down from Evansville, the relief supplies could not have come from Louisville, Cloverport happening to be on the river, would have been enabled to be brought after considerable delays by water, but they could not have been so prompt or so efficacious, and if the fire had occurred in an inland town without railroad communication the disaster would have been far more serious.

It is true that in proffering assistance the officials of the railroad were actuated by a wise policy as well as humanity. The fortunes of a railroad are indissolubly connected with the country through which it runs. It is as much dependent upon the prosperity of the people along its route as is a great city by the back country. No State can remain prosperous without an ample number of railroad systems, and no railroad can secure profit unless the territory through which it runs is in good business condition.

The time has come for ambitious politicians to realize that they cannot permanently support their fortunes by indiscriminate warfare against capital. Texas has tried this before Gov. Hogg, of the Lone Star State, staked his political existence in a fight against railroads and in an effort to keep foreign capital out of the State. The people of Texas preferred Hogg to the railroads and the largest State in the country in point of territory has about the smallest mileage. Capital now shuns Texas as it would Central America, and the growth of the State has been retarded for a generation.

It is well enough to insist that railroads should be required to bear their share of the public burdens and that special privileges should be given charity, but for the mere sake of distributing a few offices among a selfish set of politicians to prevent the building of more railroads or to discourage those that we have to make further improvements is little less than suicidal folly. It is safe to predict that the people of Cloverport will not countenance this policy in the future.

Blood.

We live by our blood, and on it we thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor.

There is nothing else to live on or by.

When strength is full and spirits high, we are being refreshed, bone muscle and brain, in body and mind, with continual flow of rich blood.

This is health. When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood, is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. It sets the whole body going again—man woman and child.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample. It is the only blood purifier. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 109 N. 2d St., Philadelphia, Pa. New York, 107 N. 2d St., all druggists.

WEST POINT CHANGES.

Teaching Staff Leaves One Popular Teacher, Another Advanced.

West Point, twenty prominently before the public by the recent hazing investigations, has gone back to the even tenor of its way, and the large and efficient corps of instructors is again busy training out of the gray stone buildings young officers for the United States army. Successful cadets, it will be remembered, receive commissions as lieutenants in the regular army. All the members of the West Point teaching staff hold rank in the regular army.

Two recent changes in the teaching body of the Military academy deserve extended notice. West Point has just lost its most popular instructor, Colonel Peter S. Michie, by death. Colonel Michie had been professor and head of the department of natural and experimental philosophy since 1871 and was the best beloved man at the "Point." The officer to hold Professor Michie's position must necessarily be one of the highest scientific attainments and standing in the world of physics and electricity.

Colonel Otto L. Hehn, who has held the position of commandant of cadets and instructor of tactics at the Military academy since 1887, will retire from that position in June and will be succeeded by Captain Charles G. Treat. With the position as the rank and pay of a lieutenant colonel. The retiring commandant is usually referred to as Colonel Hehn, although in actual rank he is only a captain. Captain Treat has been artillery instructor of the academy for about a year and is quite popular among the cadets. He is a graduate of the West Point class of '82. For meritorious service during the Spanish-American war he was commissioned major of volunteers.

ENGLAND'S RICHEST WIDOW

Once Well Known American Woman Inherits a Large Fortune.

To readers of this generation the name of Frankie C. Clavin has no unfamiliar sound, and few know much about her history. But newspaper readers of 20 years ago will recall very well the remarkable woman whose husband, Sir Francis Clavin, has just died and left her a fortune of millions, making her the richest widow in England.

To adequately describe the careers of Lady Cook and her equally famous sister Victoria, now the widow of John Edithburgh Martin, would take a volume. They read like the dreams of romances. Beginning as American country girls, these two remarkable women have been faith carriers, stock brokers, advocates of "free love" and a good many other things. Victoria was the candidate of the Woman's Suffrage party for president in 1872. After marrying the notorious lecher, Sir Tilton, she went through several marriages to rich Englishmen.

Tonnie C. Clavin was married in 1885 to Sir Francis Cook, an immensely wealthy. Since then her lines have been cast in quieter places, and she has devoted herself and her husband's money to philanthropic and sociological work. Some two years ago she announced her intention of opening a stockbroker's office in London. She has done a great deal of writing on her favorite subjects of philanthropy and sociology.

CRAP GAME ENDS IN SHOOTING.

Colored Miners Quarrel Over a Game and one is Wounded.

John Suttle and Newt Snorton, two colored miners employed at the Monarch mines, Madisonville, engaged in a crap game Sunday afternoon and quarrelled. Suttle claimed a quarter was due him and asked Snorton for it. The latter replied he did not have it, whereupon Suttle pulled his pistol and fired three shots, striking Snorton just above the left eye. The wound was at first thought serious, but an examination proved that it was only a scalp wound and he will doubtless recover. Suttle is in jail.

Good Advice.

The most miserable beings in the world are those suffering from Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint. More than seventy-five per cent. of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects; such as Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Flatulency, Constipation, Palpitation of the Heart, Heart-burn, Water-brash, Gnawing and Burning Pains at the Pit of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Coated Tongue and Disagreeable Taste in the Mouth. Continue up of Food after Eating, Low Spirits, etc. Go to your Druggist and get a bottle of Green's Sufferer's Friend. Two doses will relieve you. Try it. Get Green's Prize Almanac.

The people along the route seem to be afraid of Henderson, now since smallpox is reported there, and the result was that the excursion train last Sunday was not very well patronized.

Caught a Dreadful Cold.

Marion Cooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine millinery at 152 Milwaukee Ave., Chicago, says: "During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake a night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my friends was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased to acknowledge its merits." For sale by St. Bernard drug store, Earlington, Ben T. Robinson, Monton's Gap; Geo. King, St. Charles.

Travel between Guthrie and Clarksville, Tenn., has been greatly interfered with by an order of the city fathers of Clarksville, who have become frightened about smallpox at the former place.

A Great Newspaper.

The Sunday edition of the St. Louis Republic is a marvel of modern newspaper enterprise. The organization of its news service is worldwide, complete in every department; in fact, superior to that of any other newspaper.

The magazine section is illustrated in daintily tinted colors and splendid half-tone pictures. This section contains more high-class literary matter than any of the monthly magazines. The fashions illustrated in natural colors are especially valuable to the ladies.

The colored comic section is a genuine laugh-maker. The funny cartoons are by the best artists. The humorous stories are high-class, by authors of national reputation. Sheet music, a high-class, popular song, is furnished free every Sunday in the Republic. The price of the Sunday Republic by mail one year is $2.00. For sale by all news dealers.

A Birthday Celebration.

The eighty-first birthday of Mr. M. T. Winstead, of Madisonville, Ky., was celebrated at the home of Mr. G. A. Eudaley, Noho, Ky. Mrs. Eudaley being one of his daughters. Many of Mr. Winstead's children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were present but many could not be present on this occasion. Those present were: M. T. Winstead; G. A. Eudaley and wife, Fannie, Mazie and Glen Eudaley; Mrs. W. E. Barron, Allie Barron; Mrs. A. F. Winstead, Frank Winstead and wife, Joe and Posey Winstead; M. T. Winstead, Jr., and wife, Nannie, William and Paul Winstead; Mrs. Fannie McCall, Fay Stoy McCall; Mrs. W. B. Davis, Strother and Frank Bell Davis; J. T. Ligon, wife and infant daughter, and Ruby Ligon; Mrs. J. D. Couch and infant son; Mrs. J. G. Solomon and son David; W. B. Payne and wife, Coralee, Jessie and Claude Payne; W. T. Barron and wife and B. M. Curie.

For several years the children of Mr. Winstead have been keeping this day as a remembrance day and as time bears them on, no doubt they feel more sensibly every year the fact that they will not be able to have their venerable father with them much longer.

All reverence and respect were paid him on this occasion and at the most exalted seat at the groaning dinner table he was placed, and heartily he joined in the merriment of the repast. Five courses were served and nothing was found lacking to make the day one of great pleasure and joy. Mrs. took the picture of the happy group after dinner and then all joined in conversation, music and songs.

Too quickly the day was past and as they all bade each other farewell and went to their homes they carried with them the memory of another glad reunion. May the memory of these glad occasions be a blessing unto all who from time to time shall take part in them. Mr. Winstead was healthy and strong for a man of his age and may live to be the honored one at many more such occasions.

Judge J. F. Haefer has come from Madisonville and is making his home here now. He was formerly manager of the Exchange Hotel, at Madisonville, which was destroyed by the recent fire.

Cyrus Scott was in Earlington Monday. He had just started out on his first trip for the Cincinnati dry goods company, since the unfortunate railroad accident in which he was painfully injured.

Elder J. W. Mitchell preached at the Christian church Sunday morning and evening. At 3:15 in the afternoon he addressed the Young Men's Christian Association at the M. E. Church, South. The three addresses were all fairly well attended.

A STRONG ATTENTION.

Mr. Walker Whiteside and Company, in "Heart and Sword."

Mr. Walker Whiteside and his company will appear at Morton's Theatre, Madisonville, Wednesday night, May 1, in the delightful romantic comedy, "Heart and Sword." Of Mr. Whiteside there is nothing but praise to be written. His charming audiences everywhere. In appearance, voice, manner, gesture he is attractive—all that he should be. He is new to the South, but is winning laurels in all the principal cities.

The play, "Heart and Sword," is a picturesque comedy and is said to be bright and witty in dialogue and absorbing in plot. The press are praising the stage settings to the skies. The "Berry Bush" Inn with its quaint effect and rustic of fallen leaves, in the second act, is novel and pretty.

The setting for the third act represents the tapestry chamber of Princess Sylvia in the Castle of Steinhauzen. The walls of the chamber are covered with eight tapestries each being a reproduction of a famous painting.

The supporting company is excellent, including such well known names as Misses Lella Volstan, Helen Wilcox, Adeline Ruffalo and Messrs. W. B. Mack, Lawrence Evans, J. L. Saphire, Louis Erhoff, etc.

INDIANA MINERS COMPLAIN.

Scale Fixed by United Mine Workers injures Their Business.

Evansville, Ind., April 13.—A peculiar mining situation is presented here, causing a general suspension of operations. The United Mine Workers are responsible. They have fixed scales for Indiana and Kentucky which enable Kentucky operators to produce coal cheaper than can Indiana operators, which prevents competition and allows Southwestern Kentucky operators to flood the Evansville market with their coal.

The Indiana mining officers were here to-day trying to reach a solution, but thus far without result. Several hundred men here must now remain idle or desert the union forces.

A Good Thing.

German Syrup is the special prescription of Dr. A. Boschee, a celebrated German Physician, and is acknowledged to be one of the most fortunate discoveries in Medicine. It quickly cures Coughs, Colds and Lung troubles of the severest nature, removing, as it does, the cause of the affection and leaving the parts in a strong and healthy condition. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years, giving satisfaction in every case, which its rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two million bottles sold annually. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States in 1868, and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. Three doses will relieve any ordinary cough. Price 75 cents. Get Green's Prize Almanac.

The juice of the green pineapple, says the London Globe, is accredited in Java, the Philippines and throughout the East generally, with being a blood poison of the most deadly nature. It is said to be the substance with which the Malays poison their kreeses and daggers, and to be also the "dinner nail" poison formerly in use among the aboriginal Javanese women almost universally. These women cultivated a nail on each hand to a long, sharp point, and the dead scratch from one of these was certain death.

BANNER SALVE, the most healing salve in the world.

COULDN'T BE HAZED.

Two cadets who were said to have hazed West Point seniors.

Although the recent investigation of the system of hazing in vogue at West Point may not have killed or even "scotched" that ancient institution, it did settle one thing. Never again, in all likelihood, unless it be for some real offense, will a lower class youngster be called on to light an upper class man of superior height, weight and age because of the youngster's refusal to be hazed. The cadet corps has decided that point, and a good thing for the Military academy.

Around the spectacular scenery of West Point still float the memories of men who not only refused to be hazed to an extreme degree, but who also "knocked out" all the upper class men sent against them to compel submission. When the congressional committee asked whether a "piche" or first year man, was not always called out to be "licked" and asked further whether that was not his inevitable fate, the statement that a former "piche" had whipped every man with whom he had fought astonished the investigators. He is credited with whipping more than 30 upper class men in rapid succession. Captain Frank Schoeffel of the Ninth Infantry and John Patrick Sullivan of Louisville are the two men for whom the honor is claimed.

Captain Schoeffel finished his course in the academy and obtained his commission. He upbroke his reputation as a "first class fighting man" in Cuba and in the Philippines. He also went with his regiment to China, but illness prevented him from doing active service there. Captain Schoeffel is a strong, erect young man, 6 feet 12 inches in height and well-proportioned. He has a keen, sharp, determined looking face.

Unfortunately for the good of the service Cadet Sullivan was found deficient in military duties and was dropped from the cadet corps in 1897. He was a tall, rawboned youth from Louisiana, who well upheld the reputation of his name for feistic prowess. Like Cadet Schoeffel, Sullivan never "spilled for a fight." He was good natured and submitted to most of the ridiculous demands of the upper class men. Only when they found that he could use his hands he was called on to fight, and the pugilistic demands on his time prevented that high standing in studies demanded at "the Point."

A DARING VOYAGER.

Massachusetts girl intends to cross the ocean in a small boat.

Very few 18-year-old girls would care to make a trip across the Atlantic in an open boat, however fond of salt water they might be. But Miss Abner Carpenter of Charlestown, Mass., is not an ordinary girl, as her determination to cross the ocean in a boat 11 feet long shows. Miss Carpenter expects to accompany Captain W. A. Andrews, who has made several trips across deep water in such a dilapidated craft. Miss Carpenter's parents have given their consent to her proposed voyage, and she expects to start next June. Needless to say, the Massachusetts girl is a thorough mariner, at home in the water and familiar with every detail of small boat sailing.

OUR COLORED CITIZENS.

A very interesting mass meeting was held at Masonic hall Sunday afternoon. Everyone present was loyal to peace and honest labor.

Rev. A. J. Jackson, of Madisonville, was here Sunday. He will fill his appointment at Hecla Sunday. Everybody is invited to hear him. Rev. Jackson is a good man and Hecla should do her best to shine for him for he is a pastor that loves his sheep.

The employees of the St. Bernard Coal Co. should not feel too much like they are favoring the company by not following the union, but they should feel that it is to their interest for the company can close down and not have any work done for years, but many of them have made bad investments of their good, liberal earnings hence we must "keep the plow moving in the ground."

If the St. Bernard employees want a lesson in economy let them join the union. It requires from $8 to $10 per week for their families now but if they join the union they will only use $1 cents per week.

L. Gatewood has been confined to her room with an ailment on her finger.

W. D. Johnson, editor of the Kentucky Standard, spoke at Madisonville Monday night to a large crowd of non-union miners. He made an able speech against the union and showed up some of the union leaders in their true light.

A FEW THINGS.

Mind will ever triumph over matter—that's good.

Irish and wealth are on the side of religion—that's true.

Energy, skill, thrift, common sense, good management, economy, temperance and honesty are the tools of wealth, hence wealth will ever triumph over poverty—that's right.

The St. Bernard employees went to work on the 15th as though nothing had been said by the agitators—that's duty.

There is a stronger cement than money holding the St. Bernard and its employees together—that's honest principle.

There is a set of persons going about to stir up the minds of the quiet and prejudice the minds that are satisfied and take food from the dependent—that's mean and devilish.

The 17th Psalm paraphrased: Pret not thyself because of the T. M. W., neither be envious against the worker of iniquity. For they shall soon be cut down like the grass and wither as the green herb. Trust in the Lord and work right on to shall thou dwell in the land and verily thou shall be fed. Psalm 17: 1-4. Read the whole.

The loyalty of the miners in the employ of the St. Bernard Coal Company was fully proven on the 15th inst and fully came up to what said company had a right to expect. Yes, we repeat, the company had a right to expect everything to turn out just as it did. We do not boast or threaten but we are determined to persevere to the end of our way. We are perfectly satisfied with the ability of the gentlemen by whom we are employed, and no man or set of men shall come on their property and attempt to destroy the pleasant business relations that have always been existing between us. We are not organized as mine workers, hence we deny the right of that body to attempt in any manner to exercise us. We are free American citizens, fully capable under the employ of the company employing us, to take care of ourselves and we notify the world that until the St. Bernard Coal Company orders otherwise, we will continue as at present, unimpaired of the existence of those whose record is one of questionable methods and a nuisance to good government.

On the morning of the 15th, it looked to your corresponders as if a big picnic was going on. The 825 men who work in the mines at Earlington were about early with their big dinner pails, all full ones) and on their way to the mines. The very antics that the drivers make to the mines looked interested, and ready to kick any United Mine Worker that might attempt to interfere. The boys, well, they just gave the laugh to the so-called committee of T. M. W. who proposed to advise them they must quit work and live off the blood money, wrung from women and children, as do the tired members of the order who quit good work and wages. This was the day of the "coal" so long talked of and threatened by Jim Wood. The result of the day's work by the St. Bernard men was sufficient answer—1025 tons of coal sent to market—the call of demagoguery, tyranny, insolence, debauchery and starvation to honest men to quit work, got the answer right in the face. All hail to the honest workers of Hopkins County. They are well worthy to be called men.

As to the threats made by the T. M. W. as to what they would do if this "call" was ignored, we will see. Prudent men will hesitate before adding further injury to the insults heretofore heaped on the 2,000 miners of this county. One organizer stated a few days ago, "We are not going to lose this strike. We will kill off a lot of them seals or blow them to hell if we can't win any other way." Such fool talk as this simply makes the 2,000 working men of Hopkins County smile, as do the threats of the union to bring in men from Illinois and elsewhere to force men to quit work.

Strikes Continue.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 15.—The executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, in session here, has decided to continue the strike in the bituminous coal fields of Kansas, Arkansas and Indian Territory. This strike has been in progress for more than two years and has already cost the national organization an immense amount of money.
